

One Firm WorldwideSM

HONG KONG

Jones Day's Hong Kong Office was established in 1986 to serve the legal needs of clients based throughout Asia, Europe and the US. In 1996, the office became the first branch of a US-based law firm permitted to practise Hong Kong law. As a result, the Hong Kong Office provides legal services with respect to Hong Kong, US and other international matters, with a focus on investments and operations in Mainland China.

Through our Corporate and Capital Markets practices, we represent issuers and investment banking firms in public and private securities offerings and assist with the formation of venture capital funds and related VC and private equity investments. Our multijurisdictional team of transactional lawyers advises corporate clients on mergers and acquisitions, real estate, bank lending, information technology transactions, direct investment in Mainland China and a wide range of corporate and commercial matters.

Our Dispute Resolution practice handles all aspects of commercial dispute resolution, including local and international arbitration (with a particular emphasis on China-related matters), mediation and litigation. We act for clients in a broad spectrum of industries, such as banking, property development, energy, media and telecommunications, pharmaceuticals and construction.

Our Intellectual Property practice provides a full range of IP services, including trademark and patent registration as well as oppositions and cancellation actions; trademark, copyright, patent and unfair competition/passing-off litigation and enforcement; and assisting clients with IP audits, securitisation, licensing and acquisition.

Our Energy practice represents developers, financiers and governments in all aspects of energy projects across Asia. Our practice is primarily transactional, focusing on oil, gas and power projects, along with energy-sector mergers and acquisitions, financings, regulatory reforms and privatisations, construction work and dispute resolution.
