

One Firm WorldwideSM

BEIJING

Jones Day is one of the world's largest law firms, providing commercial and practical advice across the full range of legal services required by both local and multinational corporations; the Firm represents more than half of the Fortune 500 companies. In addition to our United States and European networks, we have eight offices in Asia: Beijing, Hong Kong, New Delhi, Shanghai, Singapore, Sydney, Taipei and Tokyo.

The Firm has been active in China for more than 20 years, assisting clients in meeting their investment, financial and business objectives in this expanding market. The Beijing Office is the Firm's second office in Mainland China, making Jones Day one of few integrated international law firms with offices in Mainland China, Hong Kong and Taiwan.

Jones Day recognizes the increasing sophistication of deals being carried out in China. Therefore, in addition to the more traditional foreign direct investment work, our lawyers are also experienced in advising in the areas of dispute resolution, antitrust and WTO issues, energy and projects, venture capital, and other corporate and finance matters. In addition to assisting foreign investors in China, Jones Day represents Chinese corporations and institutions with respect to their investments and activities both in Mainland China and in the U.S., Europe and elsewhere in Asia.

It is important to keep in contact with all levels of government when conducting significant business transactions in China. Many of our China Practice lawyers are PRC natives (including a former High Court judge, a former member of the Beijing People's Congress, former members of CIETAC and the State Council and a CIETAC arbitrator), providing us with invaluable local knowledge and understanding as well as long-standing relationships with many key governmental bodies.
