ISSUES & APPEALS PRACTICE

“The national platform afforded by Jones Day’s vast geographical footprint allows the [Issues & Appeals Practice]” to appear before courts “across the USA, while the team also has practitioners experienced at the nation’s appellate epicenter, the Supreme Court.”

VAST GEOGRAPHICAL FOOTPRINT

Our Issues & Appeals attorneys practice in courts on both coasts and many points in between. This “vast geographical” network—distinctive among appellate practices—allows us to draw on the resources of a worldwide firm with nationwide offices, while retaining regional knowledge and perspective. This regional understanding also comes in part because more than 50 of our Issues & Appeals attorneys have clerked for federal courts of appeals throughout the country.

EXPERIENCED PRACTITIONERS

Our experience is not limited to any one topic or “epicenter.” In naming our Issues & Appeals Practice to its first Appellate Hot List, The National Law Journal recently noted that we have “helped establish landmark precedents” in a variety of substantive legal areas. Our Issues & Appeals attorneys have served in the Solicitor General’s office, senior Justice Department positions, White House and congressional appointments, and also as a state solicitor and state appellate judge, among other significant posts. We bring this experience to traditional appellate advocacy, including brief writing and oral argument, as well as to novel issues and complex motions in trial court and administrative proceedings.

Court briefs. We bring remarkable firsthand knowledge to this process, as more than 20 Issues & Appeals attorneys are former Supreme Court clerks. In addition, Issues & Appeals attorneys have taught Supreme Court Practice courses at NYU and Georgetown University Law Schools.

THE SUPREME COURT

Jones Day is consistently one of the top firms practicing before the United States Supreme Court. During the past six Terms, Jones Day made 18 Supreme Court oral arguments (by 11 different attorneys) and filed hundreds of Supreme
