SAN DIEGO

Opened in 2004, Jones Day's newest California office has more than 40 professionals. The San Diego Office has significantly expanded its initial focus on providing patent strategy and portfolio management for the pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries and now boasts full-service intellectual property, labor and employment, corporate, and litigation practices. Strategically located in Carmel Valley, a dynamic, entrepreneurial, and fast-growing center, we serve clients in cutting-edge industries like medical devices, renewable energy, telecommunications, software, and information technology, in addition to pharmaceuticals and biotechnology.

Our lawyers litigate patent and trade secret disputes; negotiate joint venture, strategic alliance, licensing, and other technology-based commercial transactions; and perform patent due diligence for potential acquirers and investors, such as venture capital firms and other life science companies. The office includes an impressive array of trial lawyers experienced in all aspects of litigation in federal and state courts. These litigators focus upon a wide range of practice areas for which Jones Day is renowned: commercial litigation; product liability and mass tort defense; class actions; labor and employment law; and government civil and criminal investigations, including white-collar defense, qui tam, and whistleblower litigation.

The San Diego Office, together with the Firm's four other California offices, also provides all of the corporate legal services required by established public and private companies and entrepreneurs; emerging companies; angel funds; venture capital funds; and other
